Registration Figures Given For Area Schools

Registration for Calloway County High School and three elementary centers, East, North, and Southwest, was held on Monday with the first full day of school in session today.

Calloway County High School has a total of 878 registered for the 1975 fall term, according to Ron McAlister, school principal. He said this was about the same enrollment as last year.

Figures for the four classes were as follows: Freshman 241, Sophomores 250, Juniors 207, and Seniors 180, McAlister said. Enrollment at North Elementary School, located on North Sixteenth Street Extended, was released as 674 this morning. Johnny Bohannon is principal at North.

The enrollment for Southwest Elementary School, located on the Wiswell Road, was listed as 446 this morning. Principal at Southwest is Roy Cothran.

Enrollment figures at East Elementary School, located on the Pottertown Road, were not complete, a school official said. Bob Allen is principal at East.

City Tax Bills Include School Tax

The City of Murray tax bills which have recently been mailed out include taxes for the Murray Independent School District. This collection by the City is being done at the request of the Board and will be the first time that the City has been the collecting agency for the Murray City Schools.

Taxpayers should be advised that this is a shift in tax payment and not an increase due to collection. It should be pointed out that the amount of school tax paid this year will be increased over last year but the increase is not due to the shift from the sheriff to the City as the collecting agent. The amount of school tax is found by multiplying the rate times assessment. This amount would be the same regardless of the collecting agent.

Those taxpayers residing in the Murray Independent District will be paying their city-school tax at City Hall and the tax bill from the sheriff's office will no longer include the city school taxes.

Middlemen's Charges Up For Farm Produce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Middlemen's charges for a selected marketbasket of U.S. farm-produced foods rose more last month than they had declined in the three previous months together, an Agriculture Department report shows.

The Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service said Monday that the farm value of the products in its marketbasket of 65 foods rose 4.1 per cent from June to July, to a level 13 per cent over April and 15 per cent over the previous year.

The spread between farm value and the retail price rose 2.9 per cent from June to July to a level 1.8 per cent above what it was in April and 9.8 per cent above a year ago.

The spreads include costs and profits and their calculation and are hotly disputed by supermarket chains.

The retail cost of the marketbasket in the second quarter was up 0.7 per cent from the first three months of the year. The Agriculture Department expects figures for the current quarter and the last three months of the year to show a sizable boost and then a slight leveling at retail, with widening margins.

Over-all, food prices this year are now expected to average 9 per cent above the 1974 average.

That is slightly higher than the department predicted in the spring before demand for U.S. grain from other nations, especially the Soviet Union, sparked that market and hot, dry weather in the Great Plains forced small reductions in the 1975-76 supply estimates.

The June-to-July changes in the marketbasket picture meant that farmers took home an additional 0.3 of a cent of the consumer food dollar, for a total of 43.1 cents compared to April's 40.5 cents.

Possibly Rabid

Dog Missing

A male medium size, brown shorthaired, bob tail, part bull dog strayed or was taken from the Calloway County Dog Pound on Sunday, August 24. This dog is suspected of having RABIES and was under quarantine, according to R. L. Cooper, administrator of the Calloway County Health Department.

Cooper said unless this dog is found within ten days, the person bitten will have to start the series of Rabies Shots.

Any one knowing the whereabouts of the dog or any information concerning the animal, is asked to please contact the Calloway County Health Department or the Murray Police Department.

Cooper said no charges will be brought as the main concern is to find the dog to prevent the person from having to take the Rabies shots.

Carroll Calls For Evidence Or Apology on Charges by Opponent

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll has said a probe found no evidence in his finance department by-passed a qualified low bidder and gave a contract to a higher one.

Carroll Monday asked Robert Gable, his Republican foe in the November governor's race, to provide evidence to back up that charge which Gable made last week, or else to apologize publicly.

Gable, meanwhile, called a news conference Monday to say again that Carroll was being dishonest on the collective bargaining issue.

Larry Van Moose, executive director of Kentucky's Republican Party, said later one example of a contract not going to the low bidder involved hand cleaner. He said a bid was opened June 29 of 52 cents for 16-ounce cans, but the contract went to another firm that offered 15 ounce cans for 55 cents each.

The information could not be checked immediately.

Gable and Van Hoose said they did not know if they would give more specific information to the Carroll administration because of its apparent "inability to check it out."

Gable earlier said Carroll's position on collective bargaining for public employees showed his "very dismal record as to honesty."

He played a tape on which Carroll said: "At no time during my 14 years (of public life), nor do I now, advocate unionization of public employees." He also read a July 17 news story quoting Carroll as saying: "I never had the opportunity to cast a vote for collective bargaining."

Gable pointed to the General Assembly's official journal, which showed Carroll voting for bills in 1968 and 1970 that were entitled: "An Act Relating to Collective Bargaining for Public Employees."

Carroll's press secretary, John Michold, said later Carroll has responded to the statements several times. He indicated he felt there was no need to add to that.

Carroll has said the 1968 and 1970 bills were not collective bargaining measures because of their no-strike clauses and other restrictions.

He also has said he would veto any bill

Tappan Employee Hospitalized In Incident Today

A Tappan company employee is listed in satisfactory condition this morning at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, after being struck by a lead pellet allegedly fired from a slingshot near the local plant early today.

According to the Calloway County Judge's office, Jack E. Thomas was jailed after a warrant was issued for him for wanton endangerment in the first degree, in connection with the incident today. Bond was set at $2,500.

The Tappan company employee, Louis Maldonado, was hospitalized for treatment of a head injury sustained when the lead pellet, believed to have been shot from a sling shot, struck him.

The incident occurred, according to local law officials, after striking members of U.A.W. Local 1068 blocked company entrance into the plant for the second successful day.

The strike enters its tenth week after negotiations broke down between the company and the union. No further negotiation sessions have been scheduled at this time.

No date has been set for a preliminary hearing for Thomas, according to the office of County Judge Robert O. Miller. Wanton endangerment is a Class D felony, and carries a maximum penalty of one to five years.

Message Delivered Ample Electric Supply For State; Expensive

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentuckians can be assured of a good supply of electrical energy in the future — but it could end up being priced so high that it's a luxury item.

That was the message delivered by the chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority and by the secretary of the Department For Human Resources Monday before the Special Advisory Commission on Electric Utility Rates and Regulations.

TVA Chairman Aubrey J. Wagner said the cost of borrowed money and general inflation are factors in the increased cost of electricity, but that "skyrocketing" coal prices have been the biggest factor.

"As the price of coal goes, so goes the price of electricity," he said.

Wagner said there are two basic concerns: Whether there will be an adequate supply of electrical energy and whether we will be able to afford it.

He said coal is only a short term solution to the problem.

"I firmly believe that if we permit energy to be priced so high that it becomes a luxury item, we will destroy the quality of living that we enjoy in this country today," he said.

Wagner said the only "viable" alternative to fossil fuels such as natural gas and oil is nuclear power, and he said TVA is developing nuclear plants to produce electrical energy.

Leslie Dawson, secretary of the state Natural Resources Department, said families at all income levels have been "jolted" by recent increases in electric rates, but that the effect on low income families has been "devastating."

Dawson said he could not offer the commission solutions, but wanted to make its members and the general public aware of what those increases have done to persons living on fixed or limited incomes.

He said his staff analysts estimate that electrical utility rates have increased by 56 per cent in the last 10 years, with most two years, with most of that coming in recent months.

Low income families have been forced to divert income from other basic needs to pay for electricity, he said.

"In addition to shelter, food, clothing, medical and transportation costs increases, which are impacting families at all income levels, utilities other than electricity have increased to the point of virtually pricing low income families out of the market," he said.

The blue ribbon advisory commission was appointed last June by Gov. Julian Carroll to make a "comprehensive evaluation of all major facets of the electrical energy problem in Kentucky." The group is supposed to make its report to the governor by Dec. 1.

The course, open to upper-level students and adults in the community for three semester hours of credit, will include a study of legal cases involving the status of women and men under the Constitution (traditionally versus currently) and the impact of changing laws on employment, education, and other areas. The discriminatory effect on both women and men will be emphasized.

Dear Abby

Reader Confused By Difference in Doctors

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What's the difference between a psychiatrist and a psychologist? They are both called "doctor." Can you tell me without using a lot of big words?

F.A.
DEAR F. A.: I'll try. A psychiatrist is also a physician and, as such, has a degree in medicine. A psychologist does not.

They both treat people with emotional and mental problems, however.

A psychiatrist (because of his medical credentials) is licensed to prescribe drugs to his patients. A psychologist is not.

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, our daughter-in-law (Nell) divorced our son, saying she was going to marry a very rich man. Our son was all broken up because he and Nell had two little girls, ages 7 and 9.

After the divorce, the girls went to live with their mother, and our son took them for weekends and holidays, and maintained a wonderful relationship with them.

Now our son is marrying a fine young woman. She loves our granddaughters, and they love her. The girls (now 11 and 13) have been invited to the wedding, but Nell is raising a big fuss, saying they may not go because it is "improper."

Where was Nell's sense of propriety when she left our son for a married man (also with a family) who hasn't married her yet—and no doubt never will?

Please reply soon.

GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Her sense of propriety was apparently out to lunch. She is mistaken. There is nothing improper about the girls attending their father's wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is an unusual one. My husband's parents have recently adopted a boy of 10, and they have decided (with the boy's permission) to change the boy's name.

Michael Joseph is my father-in-law's name. My husband, now in his early 20s, was named "Michael Joseph" after his father.

Now listen to this: My father-in-law wants to name his newly adopted son "Michael Joseph" after himself. The excuse my father-in-law has for naming two sons after him is that my husband is called "Mike" (a natural nickname for Michael), but this new son, his father insists, will be called "Michael" or "Junior."

Are we being childish in objecting to another son in the family having the same name as my husband?

It will be terribly confusing because we all live in the same city.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: It would appear that your father-in-law is on an ego trip. You are not childish; your father-in-law is.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. IN ATLANTA: Some people who come for the inheritance wind up paying for the funeral.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Miss Nancy Fay Clark Becomes The Bride Of Russel Glenn Hopkins

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Glenn Hopkins

Miss Nancy Fay Clark became the bride of Russel Glenn Hopkins on Wednesday, July 23, at the Independence United Methodist Church, Almo. Rev. James R. Hale performed the double-ring ceremony at two p.m.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Clark of Benton Route One. The groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. James Buel Hopkins of Dexter Route One.

The wedding vows were exchanged before a wedding arch decorated with yellow daisies accented by white satin bows marked the family pews.

As the guests arrived, they registered in the vestibule of the church. Beside the bride's book and yellow feather pin was a small wicker basket which held the rice bags. The register table was attended by Miss Dortha Prather and Mrs. Vicky Copeland.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Sherrell Wyatt, cousin of the bride. The program included "Love Story," "The Way We Were," and "Color My World."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, entered on a white bridal carpet laid by Dicky Burkeen.

Bride's Dress
The bride's gown was fashioned of white soft polyester organza, with lavish lace trim on the front bodice, tops of sleeves, bands down the front of skirt, front hemline, and sleeve cuffs. A square neckline accented the front and back. The softly flared skirt was gently shirred at the sides. The bridal headpiece was a chapel length matilla with an open Camelot-style lace cap with nylon tulle matilla edged in lace to match her gown.

She also wore a cultured pearl pendant, as something borrowed from her aunt, Orpha Lager, and matching earrings a gift from her aunt. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and white babies breath.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Ted Thompson, the bride's sister. Her bridesmaid was Mrs. Terry Clark, sister-in-law of the bride.

Both attendants wore gowns of yellow knit that featured empire waists with ruffled shirt and neck. To complete the ensemble they wore white garden hats with yellow flowered streamers to match the gowns, and carried bouquets of white daisies and yellow roses.

Carl Ellis, brother of the groom, served as best man. The groomsmen were Ronald Hopkins, also brother of the groom. Ushers were Rieky and Dicky Burkeen, cousins of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clark chose a light orchid gown of crepe knit designed with long sleeves of sheer voile with matching accessories. Mrs. Clark's gown was fashioned by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Terry Clark.

Mrs. Hopkins, mother of the groom, chose a blue sleeveless gown of double knit with white accessories.

Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Steve Higgins and Mrs. Carl Ellis served at the bride's table which was draped in yellow underskirts covered with yellow net table cloths. The center piece was a floral arrangement of daisies, yellow roses, and white babies breath flanked by yellow candles. Cake, nuts, and mints were served with gala punch.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ike Cargill, grandparents of the groom, Carolyn Cargill of Paducah, Mrs. Orpha Lager, Mrs. Pat Bailey and Robin of Crystal City, Mo.

The couple is now residing on Dexter Route One.

Prenuptial events held in honor of the bride-elect included a household shower given by Mrs. Ted Thompson, and Mrs. Terry Clark; a household shower given by Mrs. Steve Higgins, Mrs. Gary Burkeen, and Mrs. Marilyn Burkeen; a kitchen shower given by Miss Mary Beth Hayes and Miss Debbie Garrett and a personal shower given by Mrs. Vicky Copeland, Miss Dortha Prather, and Mrs. Carolyn Henson.

In the bag

You can barbecue all types of meats, including poultry, in oven bags. Use bottled or homemade barbecue sauce bolstered with one to two teaspoons hickory smoke flavoring for that great outdoor taste. Combine recipe ingredients in oven cooking bag at night or early morning; refrigerate; cook that night. Great routine for the cook who works outside the home.

Before cutting baby's fingernails, put a bit of talcum powder on the palm of your hand and draw his fingers through it. Once the tips of the nails fills with powder it is easy to see where to cut the nails.

Garrott's Galley Corn Silks, Rabbit Tobacco And Behind-The-Barn Smoking

By M. C. Garrott

I almost couldn't resist the temptation. I was shucking a few ears from one of my two rows of corn when, noticing the rich, dark brown, dried corn silks atop the ears, the years rolled away and there I stood as a boy smoking corn silks.

I have no idea when I last smoked a corn silk cigarette rolled in a piece of paper torn from a brown grocery bag, but it was "the thing" among our gang out on West Broadway in Mayfield back yonder years ago. Everybody was smoking them, out of sight of our parents, of course. We thought it gave us some kind of a "big shot" image, I suppose.

We also smoked another substance which we called "rabbit tobacco." This was a small, fuzzy kind of leaf which we got from some kind of a weed which grew in the fields behind our homes. It would "come in" in the fall, just about the time our supplies of corn silks would run out, so we would have "makin's" for a good part of the year.

We'd stuff discarded Prince Albert tobacco cans, Bull Durham sacks and what-have-you with both the corn silks and the rabbit tobacco to smoke whenever we got to feeling "big shottish." I guess it was fun. I don't recall really enjoying smoking either of them, but it was sort of expected if you were going to be one of the fellows in the neighborhood.

My brothers and I — and we were no different from the other boys around — would frequently sneak off behind the barn or into a brush house somewhere back of our place in the woods to puff away at our corn silks and blow smoke rings by making an "O" with our mouths and pecking softly on a cheek with a forefinger.

I got pretty good at that, but left the inhaling and the smoke-through-the-nose bit to the others.

We knew better, though, than to take our "makin's" in the house, even in our pockets. Dad didn't like smoking. To my knowledge, he never had a cigarette in his mouth — except maybe to light firecrackers on the Fourth of July and at Christmas. He wouldn't even let you smoke and ride in his car. I've often seen him stop and offer a hitch hiker a ride "if you'll throw that cigarette away."

We didn't fool Dad forever with our corn silk and rabbit tobacco smoking, though. I don't recall which of the three of us he nailed while we were puffing away behind the barn, but I remember the ultimatum he issued as if it was yesterday.

"If you boys feel you have to smoke," he said sternly, "get out on the front porch, prop your feet up and smoke to your heart's content so everybody can see you."

"Don't go sneaking off behind the barn and end up burning the place down. And, I had better not catch any one of you smoking around it again."

That probably is one of the main reasons I've never smoked. Dad took all the challenge out of it before it became a habit.

Looking back because of those rich, brown corn silks on the ears the other day, I guess we boys back there on West Broadway in Mayfield didn't know how really well off we were then when compared with some of the things and stuff the young folks light up and smoke nowadays. About all the harm we could do would be to burn down a barn or sear a sage field or a thicket.

Although I won't smoke the silks, I'm looking forward to enjoying that corn this winter! The best I can figure it has cost me about $6.78 an ear.

When I planted those two rows last spring, I thought I would be saving money, but I had to buy fertilizer, a freezer, freezing supplies, and burn up untold gallons of precious gasoline running all over the place looking for canning jars. Not to mention the additional corn we've bought and frozen.

We'll have some good eatin' this winter, I'm sure, but it's going to take some selling to get Cathryn to play Fred and Fanny Farmer with me again next spring!

Population Trend Reversing

By THOMAS E. FORD

For years, Kentucky was losing thousands of people to other states. Now the population trend seems to be going the other way.

More people are coming into Kentucky each year than leaving it. And population statistics for the state show some other interesting developments:

—Kentucky's population is now growing more rapidly than at any other time in recent decades.

—The state's birth rate has been drastically decreasing while the death rate is increasing.

—Kentucky's population still lags behind the rest of the nation in its urbanization.

The most recent estimate of the Kentucky population released by the Bureau of the Census was 3,357,000 as of July 1, 1974. This represents an increase of about 138,000 over the population counted in the 1970 census. Kentucky's population has already increased more in the first half of the 1970's than during the entire decade of the 1950's, and will soon surpass the gain of 181,000 experienced during the full 1960 decade.

It is paradoxical that this rapid increase has been occurring at a time when the birth rate has been drastically decreasing. The 1974 birth rate was slightly less than 16.0 per 1,000 population compared with rates of 18.7 in 1970, 19.4 in 1965, and 23.7 in 1960.

The annual number of deaths during the first five years of this decade averaged some 3,000 more than for the comparable period of the 1960's. Since state births have been decreasing and deaths increasing, the obvious explanation for Kentucky's relatively rapid population growth since 1970 lies in the gains made through migration.

Between the time of the 1970

census count and mid-1974,

38,000 more people came into Kentucky than left. While this is not a large gain, amounting to slightly more than one per cent of the 1970 population, it stands in sharp contrast to heavy net migration losses sustained for many decades prior to 1970. Between 1960 and 1970, for instance, the net migration loss was 140,000 and during the decade of the 1950's some 390,000. Also, more than three-fourths (91) of Kentucky's 120 counties had migration losses between 1960 and 1970. In the present decade up to July 1, 1974, only 32 counties recorded net migration losses while 88 showed gains. Two counties showed no significant loss or gain in their migration rates.

What is responsible for this reversal of the migration trend? Numerous studies have shown that relative economic opportunity is the most powerful influence on internal migration in this country. When job opportunities were more plentiful and earnings higher in other states, as was the case during most of the 1950's and 1960's, Kentuckians picked up and moved out. Economic recessions tend to damp up the streams of out-migration. Past experience has shown that many migrant Kentuckians return to their native state when they are laid off, perhaps because they believe they can stretch their unemployment or welfare checks farther in Kentucky or maybe to visit kinfolks and to enjoy some of the pleasures of rural living forfeited when they moved to the city.

The relative prosperity in Kentucky's coal counties during the present energy crisis has undoubtedly stimulated both new and return migration. It would be erroneous, however, to attribute most of the state's net migration gain to the creation of new jobs in the state, for many counties with relatively little economic development have also had substantial migration into the area.

Kentucky's population still lags behind the rest of the nation in its urbanization. Even in 1970, only 52 per cent of Kentucky's population was urban compared with nearly 75 per cent of the national population. Until quite recently counties containing and near metropolitan centers—particularly Louisville, Lexington, and to a lesser extent Cincinnati—gained through migration while the great majority of rural counties had migration losses. Since 1970 the migration flow has changed direction, and many of the nation's metropolitan areas are losing population to outlying rural areas. Nine of 19 Kentucky counties located in standard metropolitan statistical areas have had net migration losses since 1970.

Although some demographers have predicted that metropolitan areas will continue to lose population through migration exchange with non-metropolitan areas, a gasoline shortage serious enough to affect commuting patterns of distant suburban residents who work in metropolitan areas could reverse again the migration flow.

State and national concern with population growth and distribution has tended to divert attention from other important demographic changes that will also have long-term social and economic consequences:

—The 67 thousand fewer births during the first half of this decade compared with the first half of the 1960's will be reflected in significantly smaller elementary school enrollments during the last half of the decade.

It is readily apparent that the demands for services responsive to the needs of children and youth, which involve much more than schooling, will continue to be lower in Kentucky, as in the rest of the nation, at least over the next 10 years.

Between 1960 and 1970 the population aged 65 and over in Kentucky grew 2½ times as fast as the total population, and the proportion of aged persons will continue to grow in the future.

Given our recent history, it is not implausible that "age-ism" will supplant sexism and racism as our national discriminatory vice, to be attended by a strong "senior rights" movement supported by a full array of anti-discriminatory Federal and state laws and administrative directives.

Certainly by 1985 mandatory retirement will be seriously reconsidered, for by then (assuming a full economic recovery) the labor market will be feeling the restrictive effects of the lowered birth rate. A tighter labor market should prove economically beneficial not only to those aged who wish to continue working but also for women and members of minority groups who have been the victims of job discrimination in the past.

In this regard, surprisingly little attention has been given the great numbers of Kentucky women who have entered the labor force since 1960.

The increased employment of women has undoubtedly played a role in the reduction of the birth rate, just as the reduction of the birth rate will contribute to even greater employment of women in the future. As more married women have obtained jobs in Kentucky, family incomes have increased as well. It is a reasonable supposition that the employment of wives made it possible for many families to remain in the state who otherwise might have had to migrate in order to make ends meet.

"Low Down"

FROM THE
Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

SENATOR HUMPHREY AIRS WHEAT PROTEIN DISPUTE

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.)—"The protein level for wheat is a critical factor in determining the price which is offered for much of the wheat which is being harvested this year, according to some grain buyers, the protein levels have dropped to or are below the 11-percent level. This is a critical point, and a 14-percent protein level will bring the producer 36 cents more per bushel than the posted prices..."

"(An) article from (The New York Times) was ordered printed in the Record):

In Wheat Belt:

Protein Dispute

(By H. J. Maidenberger)

Big Sandy, Mont.—Americans may well sing of amber waves of grain as the nation winds up a historic harvest of 1.7 billion bushels of wheat this month.

But to the wheat growers who planted that record crop last fall, the music carries some discordant notes because the protein content of the hard red winter wheat produced in Montana's "Big Sky" country and other areas is down again this season.

Protein is not only the basic substance of life—to growers of quality wheat it also represents the difference between high profits and nine months of wasted time and money, regardless of the size of the crop. To make matters worse, farmers and the grain elevator operators here complain bitterly of a "conspiracy" by wheat buyers to deny them the normal premiums they receive for protein content.

As far as the milling and baking industry is concerned, the protein factor is essential not only for its nutritional value but also for the production of quality bread and rolls. Without at least 11 per cent protein bread loses its firmness and structure, making automated packaging a nightmare.

A lack of protein causes stacked bread on grocery shelves to collapse, giving customers the impression of being offered short-weighted or damaged goods.

Foreign buyers of wheat insist on high protein because bread is still a major source of that key element in their diet. Because of the decline in supplies of high-protein wheat today, exporters may be forced to compete against domestic flour millers and bakers for available stocks, despite the record grain crops forecast for this season.

CRUMP'S GRASS

ROOTS COMMENT

It will come as a surprise to most consumers that the protein content of wheat is that important to millers and bakers—and buyers for export.

Influenzal Vaccination — More Needed

By F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D.

BLASINGAME

Americans are careless about keeping up their vaccination against influenza. According to the federal Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices, influenza vaccine should be administered annually by mid-November.

Unfortunately, approximately only one in 10 citizens in the high-risk groups is being vaccinated each year against influenza. These include persons who are chronically ill with such illnesses as heart disease, kidney disease, diabetes mellitus, and recurrent bronchopulmonary problems. In addition, all persons who are 65 years old or older are considered to be high risk. Pregnancy is not considered a risk and is not necessarily an indication for influenzal vaccination.

With the improvement in current vaccines, only one injection is required. It is a bivalent vaccine against type A (it contains several sub-types, such as Port Chalmers, Scotland, and other United Kingdom strains) and type B (such as the Hong Kong sub-type).

The U.S. Public Health Service cautions that these viruses are grown on chick embryos. Therefore, the vaccine should not be administered to anyone who is sensitive to egg protein, except with the usual precautions.

The reaction from the vaccine is often worse in children, occasionally resulting in moderate fever, while adults experience low-grade fever (if any), a sense not know of it, especially if the disease is in a mild form. Symptoms may be nonexistent or slight. It has been estimated that one and one-half million Americans have this serious illness and do not realize it. A blood sugar or glucose tolerance test will clarify the diagnosis if your physician thinks that such is needed.

Q Mr. E.E. inquires whether heart attacks are more common in diabetics than in healthy persons.

A: In spite of all the progress that has been made, heart attacks continue to be at least 2.5 times more frequent in diabetics than in nondiabetics of the same age.

of chilliness, aching and headache. Symptoms usually clear up in about 48 hours after the injection.

The influenzal viruses have long been known to undergo changes (mutations) from time to time. It is not possible to predict whether a new variety will appear. Regardless of such changes, the dangers from epidemics of influenza would be decidedly reduced, especially in the high-risk groups, if more vaccinations were done against this common disease.

Q Miss W.A. asks if a person can be a diabetic and not know it.

A: It is possible that a person can have diabetes mellitus and

UK Scientists Study Recycling Hog Wastes

Getting some use out of something most people are trying to dispose of—that's what recycling is all about. Hog manure is something farmers who raise hogs have to dispose of, and scientists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture are studying the possibility of recycling manure by feeding it back to the same animals from which it came.

"There are still some feed nutrients left in manure even though it has been through an animal's digestive tract," says Doug Overhults, UK Extension agricultural engineer. "The process of digesting feed is not complete."

Overhults says about 20 percent of the feed eaten by a growing hog is excreted as manure. This leftover of the digestive process contains about 28 percent crude protein on a dry weight basis, and also contains some energy.

The recycling project is being conducted at UK's West Kentucky Substation at Princeton. The project is under the direction of Overhults; I. J. Ross, who is also a UK agricultural engineer; and Gary Cromwell, a UK animal scientist specializing in swine nutrition.

Manure from pigs growing in confinement at the substation farm is collected, mixed in with fresh feed, and fed back to the same animals. The ration is about 85 percent fresh feed and 15 percent manure on a dry weight basis.

Tracy Attends IPA Convention

James Albert Tracy, 1704 Ryan Avenue, Murray, a member of the International Platform Association, was in Washington, D. C. from August 4 until August 9, attending the annual convention held at the Sheraton Park Hotel. Lowell Thomas, nationally known news commentator was elected to an unprecedented second year as President of the I. P. A. He was given this honor because of his record of daily broadcasts in news reporting.

Speakers of national renown appeared before the convention to inform the membership of the background of national issues and to debate national issues. Some of those appearing on the platform were Jack Anderson, well known columnist, Art Buchwald, William Colby, director of C. I. A., Jeane Dixon, James Kilpatrick, Ralph Nader, Ted Mack, Lowell Thomas, Congressman Morris Udall and several potential Presidential candidates.

Because the topical matters discussed by the Nation's leaders produce top news headlines, the annual convention of the I. P. A. is considered "The World's Greatest Public Forum."

Bill Endorsed By Committee On Questioning Rape Victims

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Alleged rape victims could not be questioned in court on unrelated past sexual conduct under a bill endorsed by the Legislative Interim Committee on Judiciary.

The bill, approved for pre-filing Thursday with a recommendation the 1976 General Assembly enact it, would allow a judge to permit testimony of past sexual conduct only if it were relevant. It also would have to involve both the alleged rapist and victim or be related directly to the charge in the indictment.

Asst. State Public Defender J. Vincent April II said the bill would unduly restrict the defense of an accused rapist. He said the woman's past conduct could be included in the record anyway, for appellate review, through an avowal taken in the judge's chambers.

State Sen. Michael Moloney, D-Lexington, disagreed and said the bill would spare haarrassment of rape victims in a public trial, something which he said resulted in only 20 percent of rape cases being reported.

"I agree the defense is entitled to a fair trial but the prosecuting witness is entitled to a fair trial too," he said.

Sen. Walter Baker, R-Glasgow, said: "I'll have to come down on the side of someone who might have to spend 10 years in the penitentiary rather than someone who might just be embarrassed."

The committee debated proposals to compensate needy crime victims for medical expenses and some of their lost wages. The committee asked its staff to redraft the bills along the lines of a New York law which several members said was simpler.

Carl Vergari, prosecuting attorney for Westchester County in New York, said $2.5 million was paid to 2,000 claimants in that state in fiscal year 1974-75.

In other business, the committee agreed with the legislature's Administrative Regulation Review subcommittee that two Justice Department regulations exceeded statutory authority. The department still can put the regulations into effect by resubmitting them unchanged.

One regulation requires local police officers to have 400 hours of special training to qualify for a 15 per cent salary bonus although state law says only 240 hours are needed.

The other would allow the public defender to defend any accused law-breaker instead of only those facing a sentence of more than six months, as the law says.

The committee tabled proposals to have sentencing done only by judges and to allow Jefferson County to have a special grand jury to serve longer than the usual one month.

Rain Saves Cards Loss And Helps Lose Record

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Baseball's being a game of inches, not minutes, may have cost Houston's Cliff Johnson a home run record. The game of inches was rain Monday night — inches of rain which washed away Johnson's sixth home run in as many consecutive games and cost the Astros a 4-3 victory.

There were two outs in the bottom of the 11th inning when the skies opened over Busch Stadium. After 134 minutes of trying to get that last batter to the plate, umpire Ed Sudol made the rainout official.

"I've never seen this happen in the 35 years I've been in baseball; a rainout with only one out to go," said the veteran Sudol. "We gave it every possible chance."

"That's the way it goes," said Johnson, whose homer over the left-field fence was Houston's calm before the storm. "At least the rain will help the farmers."

Had the 11th inning been completed and Johnson's home run counted, it would have made the 28-year-old catcher only the second man in National League history and the sixth overall to hit home runs in six consecutive games. Dale Long, who hit homers in eight straight for the 1956 Pittsburgh Pirates, was the only other National Leaguer to do it.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh blanked Atlanta 4-0; Philadelphia trimmed Los Angeles 4-2; Cincinnati bombed Chicago 11-4, and New York stopped San Diego 4-0.

The Astros-Cards contest enters the season records as a 3-3, 10-inning tie, and will be replayed from the start as part of a doubleheader tonight although all performances in the 10 innings Monday will go into the books.

Pirates 4, Braves 0
"This is the kind of sharpness I had last year," said left-hander Jim Rooker after his three-hitter and a pair of run-scoring singles by Willie Stargell led the Pirates over the Braves.

"If I had been pitching this way all season we'd probably have a three or four-game bigger lead than we do," he added.

Reds 11, Cubs 4

Shortstop Derrell Chaney saw a dream come true when he launched a three-run home run into the Wrigley Field seats. Some 17 other Chaneyes also saw the goal realized, for their baseball playing relative had left that many tickets at the gate.

"I always dreamed of hitting a home run in this ball park," said the native of nearby Hammond, Ind. "Ernie Banks was my hero."

Phillies 4, Dodgers 2

Mike Schmidt slugged his 31st home run and Greg Luzinski drove in his 102nd and 103rd runs of the year to carry Philadelphia past Los Angeles.

Schmidt's home run came in the second inning off Andy Messersmith, 14-13, and tied him with Luzinski for the major league lead.

Mets 4, Padres 0

New York right-hander Hank Webb gave up five singles in earning his first major league shutout and helping the Mets snap San Diego's three-game winning streak.

Jerry Grote tripled home a run in the second inning and rookie Mike Vail singled home a run in the fifth with one of his four hits to help Webb, 6-3, best former Met Brent Strom, 5-3.

Borg And Vilas Friends Today, Enemies Tonight

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer

Sweden's Bjorn Borg and Argentina's Guillermo Vilas are close buddies, but they'll try to beat each other's brains out tonight in a showdown for the 48th U.S. Pro Tennis Championship in Brookline, Mass.

"We're good friends, but have to try to hate on the court," said Borg, the 19-year-old defending champion who has won 11 matches in a row at Longwood.

Vilas and Borg are expected to try to whip each other with top-spin shots. That's what they specialize in as two of the world's foremost players.

"We practice together often," Borg said. "I know his game and he knows mine, I think I'll have to play very well to win."

The showdown for the championship and $10,000 first prize in the $100,000 tournament is a rematch of the French Open final. Borg won that confrontation, but found himself seeded second, behind Vilas, in defense of the U.S. Pro title.

Vilas lost his first set in five matches here Monday, but charged into the finals 1th a 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4 victory over Wimbledon champion Arthur Ashe. A few hours later, Borg easily passed his semifinal test by defeating John Alexander of Australia 6-3, 6-7, 6-3, 6-0 under the lights.

The loser tonight will collect $8,000. Ashe and Alexander settled for $4,000 each.

Elsewhere, Chris Evert lived up to her No. 1 seeding for the U.S. Open, which begins Wednesday, by overwhelming British veteran Virginia Wade 6-0, 6-1 in the finals of a $75,000 tournament at Westchester Country Club in Harrison, N.Y.

Can Self-Employed Persons Establish An Individual Retirement Account?

Since 1962, Federal law has permitted self-employed persons to establish H.R.-10 retirement plans. However, under an H.R.-10 plan, if a self-employed person wishes to contribute on his behalf, he is also required to contribute on behalf of his employees. The new law specifically allows a self-employed person to instead establish an IRA without the need to contribute on behalf of his employees.

Racers' 94-Man Squad To Scrimmage Saturday

Murray State's Racers completed the required three-days workouts in shorts over the weekend and began heavy work, including some scrimmage, in pads Monday.

Coach Bill Furgerson said his 94-man squad reported in good condition and that he had been quite pleased with the first days of practice which concentrated on conditioning drills and alignments. "Of course, with the type of workouts we had, we haven't been able to tell much about new talent, except for those players in skilled positions (receivers, passers, kickers, etc.)," Furgerson said. "However, we've been impressed by a couple walk-on receivers and our freshmen kickers have performed pretty well."

The first major scrimmage of the fall is scheduled for Saturday.

Furgerson has 31 lettermen and 17 starters back from his offensive and defensive units of last season, when the Racers were 9-2 and second in the Ohio Valley Conference.

The Racers will open their season against Western Carolina Sept. 20, in Roy Stewart Stadium where they have won 11 straight games. Tennessee Tech and Morehead will then play at Murray before the Racers take to the road to play UT-Martin, Oct. 11.

Battle Not Worrying About Job With Vols

By ED SHEARER

AP Sports Writer
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee's streak of winning eight or more games in a season ended at nine last year, and it wasn't very pleasant here.

"It's an interesting experience to have a moving van sent to your house," Coach Bill Battle said Monday during a news conference with writers and broadcasters touring the Southeastern Conference football camps.

Battle, whose 46-12-2 record for five seasons is the third best in the nation, should know.

An irate Vol fan sent a moving van to the coach's house last season when the Vols struggled to only two victories in their first six games.

But Battle said he isn't worried about the possibility of losing his job as the Vols prepare for one of their most difficult schedules ever, especially their first five games.

"There's good folks and there's bad folks and whether you win them all and lose to Notre Dame in a bowl, you still have them," Battle said. "I just play to win and all of the rest of it takes care of itself."

Battle acknowledges, however, that this year's group should be better than the one that logged a 7-3-2 chart last year, including a 7-3 victory over Maryland in the Liberty Bowl.

"This team has a little more confidence, more experience and is a little tougher in some ways," he said.

Tennessee returns seven starters on both the offensive and defensive units and figures to be a dark horse contender in a race that primarily involves Alabama and Auburn in pre-season estimates. After opening with Maryland Sept. 13, Tennessee travels to UCLA and returns home for SEC battles with Auburn and Louisiana State. Then comes a showdown with Alabama, seeking its fifth straight conference title, in Birmingham.

Tennessee has several players with all-star potential—tailback Stanley Morgan, wide receiver Larry Seivers, guard Mickey Marvin, defensive end Ron McCartney and linebackers Steve Pool and Andy Spiva.

Morgan ranks as one of the SEC's most versatile offensive players after leading the conference with 14 touchdowns last year, averaging 25 yards on his scoring trips. He rushed for 723 yards, caught passes for another 234 and added more than 600 on punt and kickoff returns.

Tennessee should be favored in its last seven games—they have 12 because one of them is at Hawaii—but Battle says, "We better hit it running because they (first five-foes) are good and you can get beat up physically in a hurry playing those kind of teams."

The offensive line will be led

Feix Puzzled Already Over Conference Race

By COACH JIMMY FEIX
Western Kentucky University
Written for the Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—The 1975 football season in the Ohio Valley Conference already has me puzzled.

We're going to have a relatively good football team, I think, mainly because we have 17 seniors on our team. That's the most I can ever remember our having.

But judging from what I know about some of the other teams around the league, and from what some of the other coaches have been saying, there are several other teams who are going to be in great shape too.

Eastern Kentucky, the defending champion, for example, has got a world of people back from last year's fine team. The folks over at Eastern—Tennessee keep talking about what a great crop of freshmen and junior college players they've recruited.

Murray State has got practically all of their fine defensive unit back from last season . . . and it goes on and on. I can't remember a season when there were so many optimistic coaches around the OVC.

We do have a lot of experience, but we also have some question marks. We had two quarterbacks who played as backups last fall, Bill Smith and Doug Davis. Neither one has a lot of experience, though, and Davis is coming back off knee surgery, which makes his physical condition highly questionable.

We got a tough break when Mark Bradley, the fine quarterback at Elizabethtown last season, signed a bonus baseball contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers after signing a grant in aid with us. He was a blue-chipper for sure. But Smith and Davis and another sophomore who saw very little action last year, Jimmy Mathis, should give us adequate quarterback play.

Lawrence Jefferson should be ready for a fine year at tailback after winning his spurs as a freshman last year. We also recruited a couple of good freshmen to back him up, along with Mike Hayes, who came along fast toward the end of last season.

The offensive line will be led by center Dave Carter, who made the all-OVC team last year. Greg Lewis could be another real standout at tackle, but he's coming back off knee surgery too, and we won't know what his status is until we get into fall practice.

Defensively we should be pretty sound, even though we've got a couple of big holes to fill where Virgil Livers played at a deep spot and John Bushong at tackle.

You don't lose two all-Americans to the pros and not feel it.

Dick Green's coming back as linebacker and is going to east the pain a lot. He's just a tremendous athlete . . . and we've got a couple of other proven linebackers in Carl Williams and Biff Madon.

Rick Caswel is as solid as almost anybody you'll find in the deep back position and he'll take up a lot of the slack left by Livers' departure, along with veteran John Leathers and sophomore Fred Kitzmiller.

Up front, Dale Anderson, Karl Young and Keith Tandy (another all-OVC selection) will be joined by Sam Fields, who really looked great at tackle last spring after being moved over from the offensive line.

Charlie Johnson is back to continue his fine punting and we may have a couple of freshmen to help out with the place-kicking.

In summing up, our offensive consistency might be questionable, particularly in the early part of the season. Our defensive unit should be solid.

Pair Of Rookie Pitchers Spark Indians And Rangers To Wins

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer
Rookie pitchers Dennis Eckersley of Cleveland and Jim Umberger of Texas don't mind finishing games. The thing is, they'd like a chance to start what they finish.

They pitched to a photo finish with three-hitters Monday night, Eckersley firing 6 1-3 hitless innings as the Indians beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1—the run was unearned—while Umberger was hurling the Rangers to a 1-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Both youngsters began the season in their respective bullpens. Eckersley, a right-hander, made his first start May 25 while lefty Umberger had to wait until June 13. Neither has any intention of going back on relief.

In the only other American League action, the Minnesota Twins downed the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3. Baltimore was rained out at Kansas City while the other teams were not scheduled.

Eckersley allowed four walks before Bill Melton broke up his no-hit bid with one out in the seventh, driving a grounder just past diving shortstop Frank Duffy into center field.

The hit scored Deron Johnson, who walked and went to second on a passed ball.

Manager Frank Robinson and Charlie Spikes slammed consecutive home runs for the Indians in the bottom of the eighth off veteran Jim Kaat, Chicago's 18-game winner.

Eckersley walked five this time—"Five walks is a lot for him," Robinson said—but struck out eight.

"It would have been nice to throw a no-hitter," he said, "but you've got to be very lucky. You've got to have so many breaks. I threw 144 pitches and I was dead tired at the end."

Rangers 1, Tigers 0
Umberger retired the first nine Detroit batters before Ron LeFlore singled to start the fourth. LeFlore was erased in a double play and Umberger faced the minimum number of batters until he walked LeFlore leading off the seventh. The Tigers' other hits were Leon Roberts' double in the eighth and Gary Sutherland's single in the ninth.

The Rangers scored off Ray Bare in the second inning when Jim Spencer singled with one out, moved up as Toby Harrah walked and came home on Tom Grieve's single. The triumph lifted the Rangers into third place in the AL West, one percentage point ahead of the White Sox.

Twins 6, Brewers 3
Dave McKay's second home run in four major league games and Rod Carew's RBI single helped the Twins hand the Brewers their 20th loss in 25 games. McKay's two-run shot into the left-field stands off Jim Slaton gave the Twins a 2-0 lead in the second inning. A third run scored on a walk, Lyman Bostock's single and an error. A double by Bostock and Carew's single pushed the lead to 4-1 in the fourth.

Bill Butler earned the victory with six shutout innings of two-hit relief after starter Joe Decker allowed only one hit but walked six in three innings plus.

TENNIS

PITTSBURGH—Vitas Gerulaitis defeated Tom Okker in the men's singles to lead the Pittsburgh Triangles to a 21-14 victory over the Golden Gaters and a 2-1 victory in the World Team Tennis championship series.

Paris Obedience Club To Sponsor Fun Match

The Paris Tennessee Obedience Club is holding an Obedience Fun Match Sunday, August 31 at the fairgrounds commercial building at Paris from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

All people with dogs that have been through any obedience training are invited to participate. Entry fee is $3.00 for each dog. There is no admission fee and spectators are welcome.

Anyone interested in entering the next series of obedience training classes starting September 9 are invited to come and see what the dogs will be taught at these classes.

The competition classes for Sunday's Fun Match are Subnovice, Novice A, Novice B, Graduate Novice, and Open A. Registration for the morning classes begins at 9:00 a.m., judging starts at 10:00 a.m. The morning classes are Subnovice, Novice B, and Graduate Novice.

Afternoon registration for Novice A and Open A classes starts at 12:30 p.m., judging starts at 1:30 p.m.

Trophies and ribbons will be given for first, second, and third place in each of the classes. Ribbons for qualifying scores will also be given (a qualifying score is 170 or more points out of a possible 200 total).

Judges for the show will be Raylene Cheatham from Bowling Green, Ky., and Dr. J. H. Kuhlman from Humboldt, Tennessee.

Judging will proceed according to AKC obedience regulations. Dogs will be judged on the following exercises:

Novice A and B: Heel on leash, Stand for examination, Heel free, Recall, Long Sit, and Long Down. Novice A class is for dogs not less than six months of age that have not achieved the title C.D. (Companion Dog) and whose handlers have not trained or handled a C.D. dog.

Novice B is also for dogs not less than 6 months of age that have not achieved the title C.D., but handlers who have previously trained or handled C.D. dogs may handle dogs in this class; handlers who have not trained C.D. dogs may also enter this class.

Graduate Novice: for C.D. dogs that have not received a qualifying score toward their C.D.X. (Companion Dog Excellent) title. The exercises in Graduate Novice are Heel on leash (no figure 8), Stand for examination, Open heel free, Open drop on recall, Open long sit, and Open long down. The "Open" here means that the exercises are performed as they are in the Open class.

Open A's for C.D. dogs that have not achieved the title C.D.X. Obedience judges and licensed handlers may not enter or handle dogs in this class. The exercise for Open A is Heel free, Drop on recall, Retrieve on flat, Retrieve over high jump, Broad jump, Long sit and Long down with handlers out of sight of their dogs.

Subnovice: for dogs that have not completed an obedience training course. All work is done with the dog on leash. The exercises are the same as those for Novice A and B—the handler goes to the end of the leash when the order "leave your dog" is given.

If your dog has some obedience training bring him to the Match. Don't say he'd never win a prize, he might surprise you, or at least he might bring home the "Boner Prize" for the lowest scoring dog in his class! For further information concerning the Fun Match or the Obedience Training Class starting September 9, call Mrs. Donna Jackson at 435-4218.

Sooners Should Stand Alone At Season's End

By F. RICHARD CICCONE, Associated Press Writer

Oklahoma. The Sooners stood alone at the top when the 1974 season was over and there's every reason to believe Barry Switzer's team can extend its 29-game unbeaten streak through the 1975 season and challenge again for the national title.

Oklahoma is the Midwest's best bet for the national crown, but the usual gangs from Columbus, Ann Arbor, Lincoln and South Bend are around preening for top honors, bowl bids and supremacy of Midwestern football.

Michigan figures to be the Big Ten leader with Ohio State and Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin close on the Wolves' heels and Michigan State ready for a crack at the Michigan-Ohio State domination of the Big Ten.

Nebraska is Oklahoma's strongest challenger to the Big Eight title which figures to be decided in their season-ending match at Norman, Okla., Colorado boasts a splendid offense and could generate enough power to scare the Sooners when they meet in the conference opener.

The section's perennial top independent, Notre Dame, lost all but one starter from the offensive unit that nipped Alabama in the Orange Bowl and Dan Devine, replacing Ara Parseghian at South Bend, faces one of the toughest Irish schedules in recent years.

Wisconsin also figures to cause some trouble in the Big Ten and Purdue, returning several starters from each unit, could be the conference darkhorse.

Miami of Ohio, which finished with a No. 10 rating nationally in 1974, again looks to be the strength of the Mid-American Conference but non-conference battles with Purdue, Cincinnati and Michigan State could spell an end to the Redskins' 23-game unbeaten string.

In the Missouri Valley Conference, Tulsa, 8-3 a year ago, is expected to match that mark and haul off another league title.

Of the superpowers, only the Sooners, who racked up an average 43 points a game in 11 straight wins last year, have few holes to fill.

Switzer appears set to turn the show over to Steve Davis, the quarterback who ran and passed for more than 1,500 yards last year, and Joe Washington, a dazzling runner who scurried for 1,350 yards along the ground. Back again is receiver Tinker Owens and most of the strong defense, anchored again by the Selmon brothers, Dewey and Leroy.

Michigan's Bo Schembacher says his defense will be strong but the Wolves need to replace quarterback Dennis Franklin, gone after three years as a starter. Mark Elzinga probably will get the nod. Gordon Bell is the Michigan game-breaker.

Ohio State's Woody Hayes always has a supply of talented, big linemen and he'll need a host of them to rebuild his graduated lines on both units. The Buckeyes also have to replace Neal Colzie, who patrolled the secondary for three years; and Hayes confronts a tough season start, facing Michigan State and Penn State in the first two games.

A similar line rebuilding problem faces Devine at Notre Dame. He also has to find a new backfield, including a quarterback to replace three-year starter Tom Clements. On defense, Steve Niehaus is back at either end or tackle for his fourth varsity starting assignment and the return of five players suspended last year could help Devine meet the challenge of a schedule which includes Michigan State, Boston College, Purdue, Southern California and Pitt.

Nebraska's biggest loss to graduation was quarterback David Humm, the southpaw slinger who set a bunch of Husker passing marks. Transfer Vince Ferragamo, who came from California, and Terry Luck, could be the answers. Center Rik Bonness leads a veteran offensive line which could enable the Huskers to have something to say about Oklahoma's plans for an Orange Bowl visit New Year's night.

Charley Baggett, one of the most versatile quarterbacks around, is the chief hope for Michigan State's bid to unseat rival Michigan and the Buckeyes from their rule of the Big Ten. Along with Baggett, the Spartans have explosive Levi Jackson at fullback and a veteran set of lines. Coach Denny Stoltz has 33 players returned from last year's team.

Wisconsin will feature a solid running attack led by Billy Marek and a strong set of blockers featuring Dennis Lick. The Badgers should be right in the thick of the Big Ten race but will have to find a solid replacement for departed quarterback Greg Bohlig to get by the big games with Michigan and Ohio State.

Purdue, traditionally a spoiler, could do it again. The Boilermakers have three-quarters of their backfield back and depth on both offense and defense. Ken Long and offense and Ken Novak on defense are two of the best linemen in the Midwest.

Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota should provide a lot of points but the three teams may not be able to stop their opponents from scoring. Indiana also has to find a defense while Northwestern will open with a solid running game but the usual shortage of depth.

Colorado's Bill Waddy and Terry Kunz carry the brunt of the running attack which the Buffs hope will carry them to a surprise happy ending in the Big Eight race. David Williams should be the starting quarterback but he will be challenged by Jeff Austin, a transfer.

Oklahoma State and Missouri will display versatile offenses, but Missouri's non-conference schedule against Alabama, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, could wreck the Tigers' season at the start.

Kansas and Kansas State are in rebuilding years with new coaches at each school and Iowa State will again rely for the big play on Luther Blue, who has been moved from split end to slotback to utilize his running ability.

If Tulsa should stumble in the MVC, New Mexico State and West Texas State, two more teams which strongly accent passing, could challenge the Hurricanes.

Boone And McIntosh Win Tennis Crowns

Brad Boone and Patti McIntosh claimed titles in the Murray Country Club's junior tennis championships.

In the boy's singles, Boone defeated Ashley Smock 6-4 and 6-2 while in the girl's play, McIntosh won 6-4 and 6-3 over Susan Stripling.

Doubles play found Kevin Ray and Boone combining to take a 7-5, 6-4 win over Mark Overbey and Ashley Smock while in the girl's doubles, McIntosh and Katherine Simmons won 6-4 and 6-4 over Robyn Ray and Susan Stripling.

Moves Up In Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Ramo Stott has pulled to within 20 points of Butch Hartman in the race for the driving title in the U.S. Auto Club stock car division.

Hartman, a four-time titlist, holds an 1,860-1,840 points edge over Stott, runnerup in 1973 and third last season.

In other USAC divisions, Jimmy Caruthers continued to hold the dirt car division lead after weekend action. The 1970 USAC midget champ led veterans Arnie Knepper and Tom Bigelow.

Sleepy Tripp already has the midget division wrapped up.

Businessman's Corner LET'S TALK ABOUT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

WHAT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAN AND CANNOT DO

Newspaper advertising has many things expected of it, but looking at it with logic, the main job your ads should accomplish is getting people to come into your place of business, unless you offer a product that can be purchased by mail or phone.

The way some merchants treat the public coming through their front doors today, you would get the impression that they expect the customer to be ready to buy the moment he sets foot in the store. While some may indeed be nearly ready to buy, this is usually the exception rather than the rule.

A good newspaper advertisement will, (1) Get the potential buyer's attention and hold it long enough to get your message across to him. (2) Give sufficient information to encourage the reader to either come in immediately, or clip the ad to remind him to come at his early convenience. (3) Pre-sell him on what you are offering in your advertisement — up to a point. When the buyer enters your establishment many other factors influence him; the store's general attractiveness, how he is greeted by the first person who approaches him, how well he is handled by the salesman dealing with him, how good "a buy" the products are that he is shown, etc. In other words, you could have 100 potential customers respond to your newspaper advertising, and yet if something else turns the deal sour, they may leave your store without you ever knowing what brought them in. Just a few occurrences like this could change your advertising results picture to the point where you would conclude your ads weren't pulling as they should.

It must be remembered that your newspaper advertising is only one member of your selling team, and covers only one portion of the "field." To obtain the results you want, each member of your team must do his part efficiently. You can't blame the second baseman for an error on the part of an outfielder. Newspaper advertising, effectively written and consistently placed, WILL bring you the results you want when all other factors are equal. Naturally, since your response to newspaper advertising depends largely on the human element, you can't hope to bat 1,000 with every ad. But then, is there anything that works perfectly 100% of the time?

Newspaper advertising will NOT correct the inequities caused by other factors, bring people to your place of business in droves during adverse weather conditions, make up the difference between "good business" and "bad business" due to poor location, or rectify poor business conditions overnight. All else being in order, many business problems can be traced directly to IN-consistency in your newspaper advertising efforts!

Yes, you can advertise your way to better business health in the pages of this newspaper!

Kent Jurors Turn Attention To Possible Liability Of Governor

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jurors deliberating a claim for damages as a result of the Kent State University shootings have turned their attention to the possible liability of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The jury received new instructions Monday dealing with legal questions of Rhodes' involvement in the May 4, 1970, shooting in which four students were killed and nine wounded.

The shooting came during a confrontation between guardsmen and students protesting the U.S. incursion into Cambodia during the Vietnam war.

The students who were wounded and the survivors of those who were killed are seeking $46 million in damages.

from 29 present and former state officials and guardsmen, including Rhodes.

The brief court session on Monday centered on an error jurors spotted in the 80 pages of instructions given them by U.S. District Court Judge Don J. Young.

Young had told jurors that Rhodes could be held liable to the shooting victims if the jurors answered yes to a series of questions, including that of whether Rhodes' decision to send guardsmen to Kent State "was a reasonable judgment made in good faith."

The instruction should have told the jurors that Rhodes could not be held liable in that event, Young said.

He presented a substitute instruction and asked the jurors whether it ended the confusion. They nodded their heads and then returned to the locked jury room. The substitute also was approved by attorneys in the case.

A vote of nine of the 12 jurors is sufficient to find whether a defendant is liable financially. If the jury determines any of the defendants is liable, a second trial will determine the amount due any plaintiff.

Carroll...

Gable said further that Carroll has said he would accept Gable's challenge to a public debate but "We can't even get a conversation going" on dates for it.

Gable said another example of Carroll's lack of truthfulness was statements he said Carroll made to statewide candidates in last spring's primary promising to stay out of those races. Asked if some of those candidates now would support the Republican ticket, Gable said: "That kind of information will come to light a little later and on Nov. 4 (the general election date)."
